Red Cross Provides Relief from Devastating Floods

Catastrophic flash floods swept through eastern Kentucky communities in late July and early August, displacing thousands of residents and destroying hundreds of homes. In response to this historic flooding, American Red Cross volunteers and employees sprang into action, delivering shelter, food, relief supplies and comfort for hard-hit individuals and families who were coping with unimaginable losses. Three months later, we remain by their sides, with more than 3,800 cases opened to provide recovery support for people impacted by the floods. Powered by generous donors, the Red Cross continues working to help meet ongoing recovery needs.

Compassionate Donors Fund Relief and Recovery for Flood Survivors

Thanks to generous donors, the Red Cross has raised approximately $10.6 million designated for our Kentucky Floods response—including the value of critical donated goods and services—to help people impacted by this disaster. As of October 28, 2022, the Red Cross had already spent or made commitments to spend approximately $7.3 million on emergency relief and recovery efforts for these floods. We will continue to program the remaining funds to provide and support services for both individual and community long-term recovery in the impacted region.

² Management, general and fundraising expenses support our work at its core and are indispensable to running the organization and helping people in need. They include the people and systems to maintain our enterprise-wide computer and telecommunications, HR and payroll systems to support our more than 17,000 employees and nearly 300,000 volunteers, fundraising and communications functions, and other support services across all program lines. 90 cents of every dollar spent for Kentucky Floods will support delivering care and comfort to help people affected by the floods in Kentucky.

Thank you!

The Red Cross must be ready for every disaster, big or small, and we respond to an average of more than 60,000 disasters each year—including home fires, severe weather, floods and wildfires. Those in need turn to the Red Cross in their darkest hours because they know they can depend on us right after the disaster and throughout their recovery. Your donation helps us fulfill this promise. We are grateful for your trust.
