Red Cross Aids Survivors of Devastating Tornadoes

In mid-December, a band of deadly tornadoes tore through parts of the South and Midwest, leveling homes, businesses and entire communities. In the weeks since the tornadoes struck, dedicated American Red Cross volunteers and employees have been working tirelessly with our partners to provide nourishing meals, safe refuge, critical relief supplies and emotional support to thousands of people whose lives have been forever changed by this heartbreaking disaster. Thanks to our generous donors, the Red Cross will stand with impacted residents to continue to help meet ongoing needs in the days and weeks ahead.

¹Budget figures are estimates. Actual expenses and long-term recovery allocations may differ due to the unpredictable nature of disasters and service delivery needs.

²Includes tornado responses in Arkansas, Kentucky, Missouri and Tennessee.

³Dollar figures are rounded to the nearest $100,000; therefore, expenses $49,999 and below are represented as zero.

⁴Management, general and fundraising expenses support our work at its core and are indispensable to running the organization and helping people in need. They include the people and systems to maintain our enterprise-wide computer and telecommunications, HR and payroll systems to support more than 17,000 employees and nearly 300,000 volunteers, fundraising and communications functions, and other support services across all program lines. 90 cents of every dollar spent for the Southern and Midwest Tornadoes will support delivering care and comfort to help people affected by these storms.

⁵As of January 10, 2022, we estimate that we will spend $41.6 million for the Southern and Midwest Tornadoes. Kentucky Tornadoes donations are supporting the response in Kentucky, and Southern and Midwest Tornadoes donations are supporting all responses across impacted states. This response also includes specific expenses expected to be reimbursed by the state of Kentucky.

Thank you!

The Red Cross must be ready for every disaster, big or small, and we respond to an average of more than 60,000 disasters per year—including single-family or apartment home fires, severe weather, floods and wildfires. Those in need turn to the Red Cross in their darkest hours because they know they can depend on us right after the disaster and through their recovery. Your donation helps us fulfill this promise. We are grateful for your trust.
